GAP WIDENS AT NAVAL CONFERENCE

Bridgeman Says U.S. Plan For Larger Cruisers is Aggressive

Executive Committee Attempts to Find Way Out of Difficulty

Geneva, July 8.—That the crisis at the Three-power Naval Conference here is far from healed, and not only continues but has become more acute, was indicated by a statement issued to the press this afternoon by Right Hon. W. C. Bridgeman, First Lord of the British Admiralty and head of the British delegation.

Without naming the United States, Mr. Bridgeman hinted broadly that maintenance of large sized warships might be construed as aggressive rather than defensive.

The First Lord declared it was impossible to arrive at a low total tonnage if the maximum tonnage in each type of warship was to be pushed up into types that became aggressive weapons.

Arguing that the British proposals were based entirely on a desire to give the British proper security and defence, he said:

"The more that is understood, the more will be the hope of getting an agreement."

SELF-PROTECTION

Mr. Bridgeman declared Great Britain had not favored the 10,000-ton "offensive cruisers" when these were authorized at the Washington conference of 1922, and that she only had them now because she had been obliged to build some in self-protection.

Hence it was not Great Britain's fault if her total tonnage was high, he said, as "it has been forced upon us."

AGREES WITH LEYGUES

The First Lord referred to the recent statement of Georges Leygues, French Minister of Marine, as one which coincided with the principles of the British position.

Mr. Leygues was quoted as saying a nation should have a fleet in proportion to the place it had occupied on the seas for centuries.

Mr. Bridgeman's statement was taken as a reply to the insistence of the United States delegates upon the right of the United States to maintain cruisers of the 10,000-ton class.

NO HEADWAY REPORTED

Geneva, July 8.—At a meeting of the executive committee of the Three-power Naval Conference here to-day the cruiser problem which is the danger point of the conference, was discussed in general terms. It is understood no advance was made in solving the difficulty which has arisen from the divergent figures presented by Britain on the one hand and the United States and Japan on the other.

HAWAIIAN VOLCANO ERUPTION WATCHED

Natives Cast Food and Berries Into Crater of the Great Kilauea

Hilo, Island of Hawaii, July 8.—The eight-mile-wide Halemauau pit of Kilauea, the largest active volcano in the world, early to-day contained a lake of molten lava 100 acres in extent, into which three erupting cones played their flow of fiery liquid rock.

Despite the fact that Pele, the Hawaiian volcano goddess, is pledged, according to native mythology, never to send a lava flow across Hilo, native residents of the town and its vicinity continued to cast their offerings to her. From their places of observation under the tree ferns back from the barren edge of the pit they advanced to hurl food and other berries into the molten flow.

Late last night the eruption was continuing without sign of abatement.

STRANGELY INJURED, S. MAROCCHI DIES

An inquest this afternoon will inquire into the details of the case and an attempt will be made to solve the mystery of the man's accident. He was found early Monday morning lying unconscious on Fort Street.

WHEN CANADA HONORED COL. CHARLES A. LINDBERGH

The picture above, the first of the event to reach Victoria, was taken while Premier King was receiving Col. Charles A. Lindbergh at the Parliament Buildings in Ottawa last Saturday during the visit of the New York-Paris aviator to the capital as a guest of the Government for the celebration of the Diamond Jubilee of Confederation. It is expected Victoria will have an opportunity to greet the "Lone Eagle," as Col. Lindbergh has wired that if he has time while on the Pacific coast he will accept the invitation of the Kinsman Club of Victoria to be its guest. It is anticipated the airman's tour will bring him to the coast about the end of July.

LIBERAL MEMBERS CALLED HERE JULY 18 TO ARRANGE PLANS FOR PARTY'S FUTURE

Liberal members of the Legislature will assemble in Victoria on Monday, July 18, to meet Premier Oliver and discuss with him future plans for their party.

In view of his present illness, the Premier, it is understood, desires to meet his supporters in the House and talk over with them his own plans. As a result of the conference here, definite arrangements for the future conduct of the party will be worked out.

All Liberal members numbering twenty-three, will be here for this month's meeting, it is expected.

Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands, arrived here to-day from the North.

NO ANNOUNCEMENT NOW

Since his return here Mr. Oliver has recovered considerably from his trip across Canada and has been able to attend to the routine business of his office. He has been enjoying drives about the country around Victoria. No intimation of his plans for the future, however, has been made and no announcement will be forthcoming until the members' meeting, it is expected.

The rainfall during the storm was light.

Lightning struck a number of out-houses in the Norris district.

CHILDREN'S PAGEANT PICTURES PRESENTED IN SATURDAY ISSUE

Striking and artistic group pictures of the Children's Pageant held at the Willows are reproduced in Saturday's Times in the magazine section. The two thousand school children who gave such a wonderful historic performance in connection with the Confederation celebrations are depicted in some of their scenes.

Ellis Parker Butler has a short story, "The Silver Bowl," in this issue. It is one of his popular author's best efforts.

A page for women holds its usual features of attraction for the fair sex. "Six Costumes in Three—For Summer Week-ending" is an especially interesting article.

Professor W. T. Allison discusses new books. Robert Connell tells the story of the Foxglove. Four full pages of comics are contained in the supplement.

ANK CONSUL'S AID

Thirty foreign consuls in Seattle have been requested to advise the directors of the Standard Oil Company, and a central figure in one of Wall Street's greatest struggles of the last twelve months, was eighty-eight years old to-day. In extraordinarily good health, the man long known as "the richest man in the world" decided to observe his birthday on his estate at Pocantico Hills, N.Y., and follow his usual daily programme with only slight deviation.

Work and golf in the morning, a drive in his automobile through the Westchester Hills in the afternoon, followed by an early dinner with his family and a few friends, was the announced course for the day.

JAPANESE TROOPS ON GUARD IN SHANTUNG

Forces Sent to Tsinan and Other Points in Disturbed Area of China

Peking, July 8.—It was learned officially here to-day that the first trainload of Japanese troops from Tientsin had arrived without incident at Tsinan, 150 miles inland in Shantung, and that four more trainloads were journeying to Tsinan. Small contingents were stated to be dropping off at various railway points.

Five hundred marines have been landed from Japanese warships at Tientsin to protect the residents of that port, this probably giving rise to the reports that United States marines had landed or were landing.

Tientsin and Tsinan are reported to be quiet, the revolt movement there apparently having broken down. The Nationalists or Southern Chinese troops, are said to be not close to menacing Tientsin.

Shantungese headquarters claim Northern troops have recaptured Lincheng and are advancing toward Hanchuang, on the Tsinan railway, near the southern border of Shantung.

TO SEND MORE TROOPS

London, July 8.—The Japanese War Office, Reuter's Tokyo correspondent reports, announced to-day that it had again decided to dispatch a force of 2,000 men, including a small detachment of artillery, from Dairen to Tientsin, Shantung Province, China. ## SOVIET EFFORTS IN BRITAIN WASTED

Thomas, Railway Workers' Secretary, Says Revolutionary Propaganda Failure

Carlisle, Eng., July 8.—St. Hon. J. H. Thomas, general secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen of Great Britain, served notice on Russia to-day that it was useless to try to engineer a revolution in this country.

Speaking at a conference of the National Union of Railwaymen, Mr. Thomas said: "I hope Russia will immediately abandon the absurd idea that she can engineer a revolution in this country or dictate to a movement like ours as to how we are going to conduct our business."

"It is no secret that there is Russian money to subsidize their particular form of propaganda, but the mistake the Russians are making is that they are subsidizing the wrong people."

"Neither the minority movement nor communist propaganda is going to divert the great mass of workers in this country from following a constitutional path to bring about the social changes required."

Vancouver, July 8.—Carrying death through the hallways and apartments of the Royal Alexandra Apartment House, fire swept through the big building at Bute and Comox Streets here shortly before 2 o'clock this afternoon. Men, women and children were trapped on the fifth and sixth floors of the burning structure, and firemen and police fought desperately to save them, carrying them down fire ladders, while some were lowered to the ground by ropes.

The complete list of dead and injured will not be known until late to-night, when a complete check-up of the occupants can be made. Two children are known to have lost their lives, having succumbed to burns in St. Paul's Hospital. Police Constable Joseph Retilly heroically rescued two women, carrying them out in an upstairs chair, through the fire and smoke. Their names could not be learned.

Constable W. Haynes also plunged into the flames, emerged with a small child. The little one was crushed about the head and its body was terribly burned. It is not expected to live.

Two adults and a child are reported to have perished on the seventh floor, but this can not be verified until a search of the ruins is made.

MAN BADLY BURNED

While groping his way through the hallways, one of the fire chief's men fell over the body of a man, clothed only in trousers and shirt. He was carried from the building, and is badly burned.

START REPORTED

The fire started in a vacant suite on the fourth floor, according to a statement made to Fire Marshal J. A. Thomas by David Henderson of 1726 Twenty-sixth Avenue East, Henderson, who is a painter, said he was engaged in painting a vacant suite on the fourth floor when he noticed flames coming out of a vacant suite, No. 410. He immediately ran to the alarm.

So rapidly did the flames mushroom on the hall of the fourth floor that the three upper floors of the seven-story building that the point of its origin is in doubt. Within three minutes of the alarm being given the narrow hallways were filled with smoke, fire and fumes. Plan to Curb "High Pressure" Salesmen Presented to Chamber

Establishment of a bureau for the examination of any undertaking which solicits the support of the public is drastically curbing the activities of "high pressure" salesmen was advocated in a letter from G. N. Marshall, read at the meeting of the directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce to-day.

"I think the disinclination of local residents to invest in local enterprise is occasioned by the unscrupulous conduct of many firms who exploit the public," said the writer.

"I think that before any person is allowed to solicit public subscriptions for an enterprise of any nature he should be thoroughly examined by a competent committee, and the expense so incurred should be borne by the sponsors of the enterprise."

PLAN CHANGES IN FORCE HANDLING LIQUOR LAW HERE

Liquor Board to Have Staff of Inspectors; Will Supervise Beer Sale

Secret Service Staff Reduced; Conditions Improved Now, Officials State

Departmental changes are being made in the organization of the Provincial Police and Liquor Board for the enforcement of British Columbia's liquor laws.

These include the creation of a force of inspectors employed by the Provincial Police, but working with the Liquor Board to exercise strict supervision over liquor conditions, including the operations of beer parlors.

STAFF IS REDUCED

Meanwhile practically all men employed in the past by the Provincial Police in secret service work have been disbanded. It is not intended to replace them at present.

CONDITIONS IMPROVE

With liquor conditions improved, in the opinion of officials, and municipalities co-operating with the Provincial Police, the enforcement of the liquor law, the old secret service will not be needed. When special officials are required for this work they will be employed, it is understood.

WATCH BEER HALLS

Meanwhile a staff of deputy inspectors under Inspector Miller, of the Provincial Police, will be devoted to liquor work, commencing August 1. These inspectors will exercise strict supervision over beer parlors—a work regarded as highly important now that Vancouver parlor licensees have decided to abandon their former agreement and sell beer to women. If abuses arise out of this return to the former system in beer parlors the new force will be in a position to curb them.

FORD MAKES PEACE WITH JEWISH PEOPLE

Dearborn Independent, His Newspaper, no Longer Will Attack That Race

New York, July 8.—Through Arthur Brisbane a statement has been made public quoting Henry Ford as saying he had ordered his Dearborn Independent to discontinue permanently its articles hostile to the Jewish people. The statement expresses "great regret" over any injury the published articles may have caused.

Mr. Brisbane's article, which was copyrighted by The New York American, and sent by that paper to other newspapers, was based on a signed statement, and Mr. Brisbane, the original author, which was in possession of Louis Marshall, lawyer, Mr. Marshall, at Saranac Lake, said the original was in his office safe and a photostatic reproduction would be available to anyone desiring it.

DUTY AS CITIZEN

The announcement was made at Mr. Ford's request, said Mr. Brisbane, who quoted Mr. Ford as saying:

"This statement is made on my own accord and wholly in the interest of right and justice, and in accordance with what I regard as my solemn duty as a man and as a citizen."

PAMPHLETS WITHDRAWN

Some of the articles already reprinted in pamphlet form under the title of "The International Jew" would be withdrawn from circulation, said Mr. Brisbane, who quoted Mr. Ford as saying The Dearborn Independent in the future would be conducted under such an auspicious and pure nature he should be thoroughly examined by a competent committee, and the expense so incurred should be borne by the sponsors of the enterprise."

NOT FOR SALE

Disclosing that William Randolph Hearst, publisher of The American, had offered $1,000,000 for The Dearborn Independent, the article stated that Mr. Hearst could quote Mr. Ford as saying in reply:

"No, I won't sell it, but I'm going to make it a house organ, and I am going to stop absolute perverting that which could possibly cause complaint or hurt the feelings of anybody."

The Detroit manufacturer was quoted as being "deeply mortified" that this journal had been made the medium for resurrecting exploded fictions, for giving currency to the so-called protocols of the wise men of Zion, which have been demonstrated, as I learn, to be gross forgeries, and for contending that the Jews have been engaged in a conspiracy to control the industries and capital of the world."

AWARE OF VIRTUES

"Had I appreciated even the general nature, to say nothing of the details of these articles," Mr. Ford was quoted as declaring, "I would have forbidden their circulation without a moment's hesitation, because I am fully aware of the virtues of the Jewish people, of what they and their ancestors have done for civilization and for mankind, their benevolence and their unselfish interest in the public welfare."

MAN ENTOMBED IN TUNNEL IS RESCUED

Marshfield, Ore., July 8.—Ben Benson of Portland was rescued yesterday from a tunnel at the Hauser Construction Company's rock quarry on Coos River after being entombed for twenty-four hours. Benson was drilling a tunnel underneath a rock cliff for a big charge of dynamite when a rock slide of hundreds of tons shut off the entrance. More than 100 men were worked steadily for twenty-four hours to release him. Air in the tunnel and air filtering through the rocks saved him, and he was able to walk when brought to daylight.

CHU CHAO-HSIN IS TO LEAVE GENEVA

China Will be Without Council
Representative Until New Spokesman Named

Geneva, July 8.—Chu Chao-hsin, who has been representing the Peking Government on the Council of the League of Nations, informed Sir Eric Drummond, the Secretary-General, yesterday that he intended to return to China and become a free lance.

Inasmuch as the League deals officially only with the Peking Government, the Council will be obliged to accept whomever the Peking Government may appoint in Chu's stead. It is presumed Chu will enter the service of the Nanking Nationalist Government.

His action will leave China without a representative on the Council, in which it was given a seat at the last session of the Assembly. While it is believed here that the Nanking Government is desirous of representation on the Council, it is hardly conceivable it would send Chu or any other representative to sit with the Council until it was first formally recognized by the powers.

Chu's action was not particularly surprising since he is a personal friend of Dr. C. C. Wu, Foreign Minister of the Nanking Government, and Chiang Kai-shek, military leader of the Nanking regime.

Only recently Chu issued a communication in the name of the Nationalists stating no decision should be taken at the Geneva Three-Power Naval Conference as regarded the situation in the Pacific unless China were given the opportunity to be consulted.

San Francisco, July 8.—While their eighteen-year-old accomplice hid, trembling with fear, in a closet, two hijackers were seen to enter a room yesterday afternoon as they stood with their hands in the air in an alleged bootlegging plant in the Latin quarter here.

The surviving hijacker, Joe Biagini, eighteen, related to the police how he and the two who later were "executed" according to the underworld code had gone to the bootleg plant and had been surprised by the owners as they were loading their touring car with bottled liquor. They heard the men coming, and extinguished their lights. Biagini hid in the closet. The other two hijackers, Salvatore Caromagnano, thirty-one, an experienced bootlegger, and his brother, Albert Caromagnano, twenty-five, stood their ground. The bootleggers entered with flashlights, carrying revolvers ready for use.

"Hands up!" the newcomers ordered. "I've got 'em up!" said Salvatore Caromagnano.

The bootlegger answered with a revolver shot, which struck Salvatore Caromagnano in the chest near the heart. The wounded man fell, but dragged himself from the building and crawled to a vacant lot, where physicians believe he lay an hour before he died.

At the first shot Biagini had dropped to his knees in the closet, but he was not so lucky. He was taken in the rest of the tragedy. For a few seconds after his brother dropped, Albert Caromagnano stood with his hands elevated, watching the assassins. Then one of the assassins fired.

"Im shot!" said Albert Caromagnano as he fell.

CHARGE OF BURGLARY

The two assassins hurried away, and when the sound of their footsteps had died away Biagini crept from the building and ran home, where he went to bed. Police said he made a complete statement when questioned. He was held on a charge of burglary.

The police were called by Emilie Biagini, Joe's brother, who heard the groans of the dying hijacker on the vacant lot.

Joe Biagini furnished the authorities with a good description of the slayers, and the police said they expected to make arrests soon. No arrests had been announced to-day.

Investigation of the premises where the shooting was done revealed a large still, with complete bottling and labelling equipment. The labels showed the product had been sold as a popular brand of cognac.

Customs Inquiry

Tour is Ended

Charlottetown, P.E.I., July 8.—The Customs Commission has concluded its labors for the time being. The sitting here yesterday marked the close of a tour which, opening in November last, has covered all the provinces of Canada.

Customs administration, commercial smuggling, petty smuggling, operation of breweries and distilleries, and last but not least, smuggling of liquor into Canada and the United States, have been gone into during months of sittings.

Now the commission, with a mass of evidence and exhibits, has adjourned until the last of August or early in September.

Sittings in Ottawa and a trip to Washington to consult with United States authorities on the operation of the anti-smuggling treaty will complete the activities of the commission prior to completion of a report for Parliament. This will be available for the next session of Parliament.

Police in Indiana

Search For Murderer

Gary, Ind., July 8.—A whistling killer is being sought by the police here following the slaying of one man and the wounding of another in two holdups. It is believed the slayer is a negro.

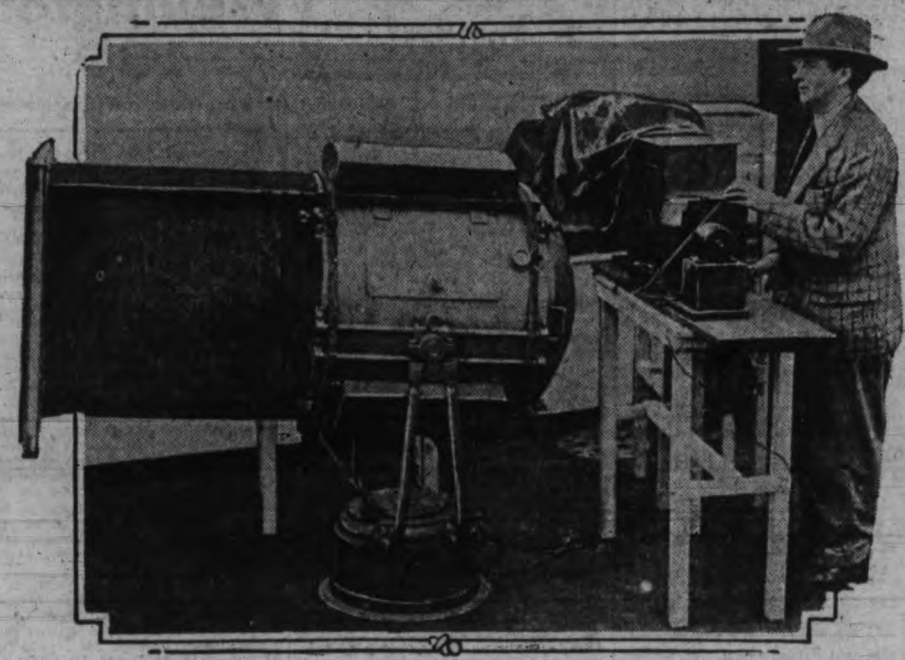

Herbert McElrath was killed last Monday night and Oscar Elliott was shot and wounded last night.

The killer approached each from the rear whistling, drew a pistol and killed his victims after robbing them, in each instance warning their accompanying wives not to make an outcry.

MAN DROWNED

Campbellford, Ont., July 8.—After having succeeded in rescuing his sister-in-law, Ralph Murray of Niles, Ohio, was drowned yesterday near the Healy Falls bridge.

Scot Scientist Coming To Show "Invisible Light"

Inventor J. L. Baird and his "noctovisor," which, by means of invisible light, will transmit images through fog.

London, July 8.—John L. Baird, the brilliant young Scot who has invented a television apparatus, will go to New York soon for the purpose of showing that television is just as practicable across the Atlantic ocean as is wireless telephony and other discoveries which will have perhaps even greater value.

Baird, for instance, with his television machine, saw that it was necessary to place the sitter in the midst of very powerful lights which were bad for the eyes. He then tried to work trying to see what could be done with the "invisible light rays," particularly those known as the infra-red rays.

"I now place a person in a room in pitch darkness," he says. "I play 'invisible light' rays upon his face. He sees nothing. The blackness remains blackness. But in another room, by means of the television, I project his features on a screen, complete in detail and with even gradations of light and shade.

Do you see what that means to nations in war time? Suppose an airplane were creeping up in the dark? Or an enemy regiment stealing forth to attack trenches under the cover of the night? We project invisible light rays upon the enemy, who is not aware that he is discovered. But there on a screen in our lines would be the complete picture of his movements.

"From that I have perfected what I call a noctovisor. By means of this it is possible for steamships and aircraft to combat their present deadliest enemy—fog. It is possible to project the rays through fog sixteen times further than ordinary lights will do it. A ship at sea in a fog, therefore, can see a considerable distance ahead, picking up other ships or lighthouses or reefs.

"This Summer we are going to fit the steamship Perth of the Dundee, Perth and London line with a noctovisor. Experiments will then be made under actual working conditions at sea. If the apparatus does all that I hope and believe it will do, it will hereafter be as indispensable to ships as the Marconi wireless is at present. It will have use in wartime, too, for it will make the present very effective smoke screens laid down by war vessels of little use. With the noctovisor we will penetrate the screen and see the ships back of it."

Baird recently gave a laboratory demonstration of the noctovisor. A ventriloquist's dummy was set up in a room which was filled with the thick fumes of ammonium chloride. The invisible light rays, however, penetrated the fog and in an adjoining room on the screen the noctovisor clearly projected the image of the dummy.

Leading Woman of Fianna Fail is Now Ill in Dublin

Dublin, July 8.—The serious condition of Countess Markievicz following an operation for appendicitis gave rise this afternoon to reports that she had died. At 1.30 this afternoon, however, it was said at Sir Patrick Dunn's hospital, Dublin, that while she was still in a serious condition, she was doing as well as could be expected.

Dublin, July 8.—Countess Markievicz, who has played a prominent role in the Republican movement in Ireland, and later has been affiliated with Eamon de Valera in his Fianna Fail republican party, is seriously ill following an operation for appendicitis. She was reported somewhat better this morning after a fairly good night.

The countess was elected to the Dail on the Pinnas Fail ticket in the recent general election for the Free State Parliament.

The countess, who was Constance Gore Booth, sister of J. A. Gore Booth, married Count Gedeon Markievicz of Poland in 1900. Her republican activities extend back to the period before the 1916 uprising. For her part in the 1916 rising, she was sentenced to penal servitude for life, and she was released in 1917.

PROGRESSIVES HAD NAME CHANGE AS SUBJECT OF DEBATE

Regina, July 8.—Whether or not to change the name of the Saskatchewan Progressive Association to "United Farmers of Saskatchewan" proved a real bone of contention at the second day's meeting of the Progressives here yesterday. For more than three hours, morning and afternoon, the question was keenly debated, and at one time it looked as if a change in title would be the outcome. In the end, however, it was, by good majority, decided to retain the present name.

Manitoba to Have Election Recounts

Winnipeg, July 8.—Application for a recount of the ballots cast in St. Boniface on June 28 in the Manitoba general election has been made on behalf of Joseph Bernier, Conservative, and former member for the constituency. Mr. Bernier was declared defeated by L. P. Gagnon, Liberal, who headed the poll with a majority of one after three other candidates had been eliminated under the transferable system of voting.

There is also a prospect of a recount in Minnetonka, where Dr. F. T. Rutledge, Conservative, was declared elected by three votes.

Leader Elected by Locomotive Men

Cleveland, Ohio, July 8.—Alvanley Johnson, grand chief engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and the senior officer of the Brotherhood under a reorganization plan, was unanimously re-elected for a term of six years at the triennial convention here last night.

The convention's action automatically abolished the office of president and first and second vice-presidents and secretary-treasurer.

William B. Prenter, seventy-two, who succeeded to the presidency on the death of the late Warren G. Stone, was relieved of all executive capacity and full executive control was invested in Johnson.

KEITH PRESTON DIED

Chicago, July 8.—Keith Preston, literary editor of The Chicago Daily News, author, critic and columnist, died last night in an Evanston hospital after a few days' illness. He was in his forty-third year.

HAWAIIAN VOLCANO IS NOW IN ERUPTION

Hilo, Island of Hawaii, July 8.—Again Pele, the Hawaiian volcano goddess, has mischievously started an eruption during the absence of Dr. Thomas A. Jaggar, one of the world's most noted volcanologists, who has devoted most of his life to a study of the moods of Kilauae and other Hawaiian craters.

Dr. Jaggar is now in Alaska, where he went in April. He was in New York in 1924 at the time of the break of Kilauae in that year, while at the time of the previous eruption he was in the Orient.

Last year Dr. Jaggar planned a long trip, but before he could leave the Hoopuloa flow from Mauna Loa started.

Hawaiians declare Pele likes Dr. Jaggar and uses this means of calling him back to Kilauae.

Postal Workers In Britain Leave Trades Congress

London, July 8.—(Canadian Press Cable).—Two post office workers' unions, largest among the civil servant organizations in Great Britain, are withdrawing from the Trades Union Congress in anticipation of the passage by Parliament of the Trades Union Bill. The bill, among other things, debar civil servants from associating with any trade unions other than those solely composed of civil servants and having no political objectives.

GENEVA LABOR OFFICE DECLARED A GROWING SUCCESS

Ottawa, July 8.—"I regard the League of Nations and its subsidiary organization, the International Labor Office, as affording the best possible opportunity for promoting a better knowledge of each other among nations of the world and through this knowledge for creating an international atmosphere which will be conducive to peace rather than provocative of war."

These were the words of R. A. Rigg, director of employment services in the Federal Department of Labor, who has just returned from the Geneva convention of the International Labor Office, where he was Canada's representative.

"As far as international relations are concerned," said Mr. Rigg, "I do not believe in the old saying that, 'familiarity breeds contempt.' Lack of understanding of each other has been one of the prime causes of disaster in the past. I most sincerely hope the International Labor Office may result in improving the relations and economic and social conditions throughout the world."

New Jewish Farm School in Ontario

Toronto, July 8.—On July 10 the Jewish Farm School at Georgetown, Ont., near here, will be opened officially. More than 1,000 guests from Canadian cities and nearby United States points are expected to be present. The Government of Canada has consented to have more than 100 orphans brought over from Poland to be trained on the farm, and last week the first group of forty arrived.

LIQUOR CHARGES

Philadelphia, July 8.—Instances of drinking in church and among young churchgoers were cited here last night by delegates to the convention of the Baptist Young People's Union of America after prohibition had been defended by Congressman Orant M. Ruden of Michigan as having brought about improved conditions.

Premier States Japan Desires Peace in Orient

Tokyo, July 8.—After a ministerial conference here on the Chinese situation, attended by Kenkichi Yoshikawa, Minister at Peking, and other functionaries, Premier Tanaka yesterday said:

"The basic principle of Japan's policy toward China consists in the maintenance of peace in the Far East and realization of the common prosperity of Japan and China."

Urging the importance of the restoration of peace in China, the Premier emphasized that only the Chinese themselves could undertake this task, and that outside interference was worse than useless. In the present circumstances, he said, Japan's only alternative was to keep in touch with the moderate elements, but she must protect her nationals if the Chinese were unable to do so.

He also emphasized the necessity of Japan taking all steps necessary to preserve peace in Manchuria and Mongolia, owing to the bearing of this question on the national defense.

WAR MATERIALS BILL PASSED BY REICHSTAG

Berlin, July 8.—The Reichstag yesterday by vote of 308 to 44 yesterday adopted a war materials bill which forbids the export of certain categories of goods which might be used as instruments of war, a problem which has long been a thorny one in Germany's negotiations concerning the Allied control of armaments.

Under the act, searchlights, special binoculars and other goods which would be used as instruments of war are forbidden exportation. Various speakers before the Reichstag declared that in as much as the bill was imposed on Germany by the Allied Powers, it was a violation of German sovereignty, but admitted it was a political necessity. By its adoption, they contended, Germany was fulfilling all her disarmament obligations, and there was now no further excuse for the continued occupation of German soil.

MAN AND WIFE WOUNDED

San Francisco, July 8.—Joseph Udell, twenty-eight, and his estranged wife, Lucille Udell, twenty-three, were near death in a hospital here to-day with bullet wounds which police said had ended a quarrel following an attempt at reconciliation. The police theory was that Udell shot his wife and then attempted suicide. Hospital authorities said both had a chance to recover.

THE LARGER PROBLEM

WHILE THE PROPOSALS FOR THE promotion of industrial expansion here may properly be regarded as exceptional, it should be realized that they have to do with exceptional conditions. If this city is to march along the highway of progress with neighboring communities it must encourage industrial development. It must induce outside capital to invest here, but before it can do this it must prove by actual operation that industrial activity can be profitably carried on. That is why it is necessary for the city to go so far as it is proposed to go in its programme of port development.

Places already on the industrial highway may not need to adopt measures of this kind. Victoria, unhappily, has suffered from an impression abroad that it has no industrial future, that it has no natural advantages for such a development, that its people are indifferent towards such a thing, that they prefer to take life easy, that recreation is their chief preoccupation and that work is merely an incidental consideration with them. That impression, damning in its effect upon a city's growth, is the result of propaganda emanating from both without and within. The only way it can be destroyed is by the actual demonstration of its falsity, and that demonstration is possible only through extraordinary efforts on the part of the city as a whole.

Inevitably any bold attempt to insure the city's growth along this line will meet with opposition from elements who are either quite satisfied with things as they are, or fail to see the problem in its larger outline; but the time has come when we must put ourselves on the map and provide outlets for the brain and brawn, the energy and ambition, of our people, particularly our young people who object to going to seed before their time. We have remarkable resources for industrial development at our very door. On the island a few miles away we have an empire of raw material in the fields, forests and mineral soil. The fisheries of our West Coast are building up industries in Seattle and Vancouver—and we have people childish enough to claim that for some obscure reason similar industries can not be operated here. We have incomparable advantages as a shipping port, the first and last port of call in the Northwest for trans-Pacific commerce. Indeed, our assets for industrial expansion are more imposing by far than our attractions as a place of comfortable leisure and recreation. Many other places with half of those advantages have become great and prosperous communities because their people were ready to make sacrifices to that end, in order to prove what could be done. Victoria can present the same object lesson, especially for an industrial future which has to do with resources lying at her doors, if she so desires.

A GREAT CANADIAN

CHARLES MAIR WAS A GREAT CANADIAN. He has been described by more than one critic as Canada's greatest poet, and while there can be no question of his high place in Canadian literature or of his right to be enrolled among Canada's greatest sons. He began his literary career the year following Confederation, and from that time there flowed from his unusual talent many fine works of prose and verse marked by a stirring spirit of Canadianism. He understood Canada in all its moods. He was a great traveler, and loved to roam throughout our vast hinterlands which furnished material for his splendid powers of description in both poetry and prose. Practically every publication in Canada has paid tribute to his great gift, and literary circles have acknowledged their debt to him as the founder of Canadian descriptive verse. During his residence here, while incapacitated by illness incidental to old age, his room was a mecca for many distinguished peoples who visited Victoria, not only Canadians but prominent persons from other countries who admired his literary works as well as his fine personal qualities. His passing will occasion widespread concern in Canada and abroad.

GET THEM YOUNG

THE ARRANGEMENT WHICH HAS just been entered into between the Canadian and British governments to spend five million dollars during the next ten years to bring boys from Great Britain to become farm workers in this country should be successful if proper selections are made and sound training given.

Some idea of what a properly organized movement of this kind should be able to do for Canada as well as for the newcomers themselves is reflected in the number of harvesters who came to Canada in 1923 and remained and became permanent citizens of the Dominion. A great wall rent the heavens in some quarters of the Old Country about the hardships a number of these young men were supposed to have had to put up with. No doubt many of them who were more or less physically unfit for such work thought they were doing the right thing by telling their troubles, often in the most exaggerated form, to the newspapers of Britain; but the important fact to be remembered is that out of approximately 12,000 who came less than 2,000 returned to their native land. The rest of them remained and, judging by the latest employment returns published by the Department at Ottawa, they have been absorbed long ago. Few of these, of course, had any experience of farm work before they reached Canada, while the plan now about to be put into operation on a co-operative basis provides for expert instruction before the young men go on the land.

It is certain that if life in Canada can be convincingly portrayed to the thousands in Great Britain who are willing to work if they can get it, young men who can be turned into good Canadian citizens, the money spent in training them and bringing them out will be money well spent.

TWENTY-FIVE MILLION

SIR HENRY THORNTON TOLD NEW York the other day that Canada's population, which is now around ten millions, would increase to twenty-five millions in the next fifteen years.

That seems like rapid growth. But its rate has almost been equalled by the rate of the growth of the West during the last sixty years. Canada, west of the Lakes, sixty years ago had a population of 100,000. To-day the population in this area is 2,800,000. This gain was made through bad as well as prosperous times and during a period when conditions were not as propitious as they are now for settlement.

To-day there is ready transportation by rail and motor and many of the other problems of the earlier pioneers are solved. The lean after-days of the war are past and there is a mounting population and wealth south of the line looking to the opportunities this undeveloped land offers. The immigrant tide from Europe is again turned this way.

More important, even, is the confidence in Canada's immediate future that has returned to Canadians themselves.

So Sir Henry's prediction is reasonable. As we near its realization it will be sweet to recall for contrast the "Whisper of Death" of half a dozen years ago which came from the lips of those who for a spell allowed their faith in their country to wane.

IBSEN EN PANTOUFLS

THE NEWSPAPERS IN OSLO HAVE been trying to find out whether Henrik Ibsen was a tobacco-smoker or not, and in the course of their researches into the distinguished dramatist's private life, they seem to have unearthed a horrid skeleton. Ibsen's old housekeeper is said to have affirmed that while she never saw her master smoke tobacco, "he always chewed American twist."

If tobacco be a doubtful indulgence, surely this is the most doubtful of all ways of indulging in it. One hardly dares to think how Hedda Gabler would have received the news that her creator was a man who worked away with a plug of twist in his cheek!

And what extenuating circumstance will Mr. Bernard Shaw, who regrets the universal use of tobacco as much as he deplores the eating of flesh, find for this belated scandal in the life of his one-time protégé? He might, perhaps, as a last resort, plead that chewing tobacco is a strictly vegetarian indulgence.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

LET'S GO!
From The Toronto Star

"TRUTH ABOUT JUTLAND"
From The Manchester Guardian

The "Harper Record" of the Battle of Jutland is published, and our naval correspondent says that it is so much what it pretends to be—a plain narrative of the battle without comment or conclusions—that it is difficult to imagine why it should ever have been suppressed. Presumably the reason is that our admirals and captains are all so sure that they are in exclusive possession of the "truth about Jutland" that they do not like plain narratives without comment or conclusion.

Except perhaps for naval men there is no "lesson" to be drawn from the conduct of the battle by Beatty or by Jellicoe. But there is a great deal to be learned from what Lord Jellicoe has told us of the conditions under which he had to fight. Everyone supposed that when the British fleet went into action at Jutland it represented the "last word" as they say, in respect of equipment, and that whatever else might hamper our commanders it would not be that their material was in any respect inferior to that of the enemy. The real position was far different. Lord Jellicoe has insisted, for instance, that caution in respect of a night action was definitely imposed on him by the knowledge that the Germans had, among other advantages, more powerful searchlights, a better control system for guns and searchlights in combination, and a more complete director-firing system for the smaller guns. By all means let us discuss whether Lord Jellicoe should have made his famous "turning away" movement or not, and whether Sir David Beatty was right or wrong to place the Fifth Battle Squadron where he did. But when we have reached the truth on these points to our own—of to no one else's—satisfaction we shall have done nothing to increase the future efficiency of the fleet. But if we persisted in inquiring how it was that the Germans in 1916 had equipment that was in some ways so superior to ours that our commander dare not run the risk of a clash at a critical period of the battle, then we should be doing something that might be of immense use in the future to ourselves. But this is the last thing that is discussed in the argumentation on the "truth about Jutland."

A THOUGHT

Watch and pray, that ye enter not into temptation. —Matthew xxvi, 44.
We like slipping, but not falling; our real desire is to be tempted enough.—Hare.

Do You Mean What You Say?

"SPANISH MAIN"

"Sixteen men on a dead man's chest." The words, "Spanish Main" immediately bring forth visions of pirate ships, flying the "Jolly Roger," and searching the seas for victims who can be made to "walk the plank." For we think of the "Spanish Main" as the Caribbean Sea and adjacent waters, formerly infested with buccaners. The original "Spanish Main," however, was not the sea, but the mainland of South America between the Isthmus of Panama and the Orinoco River, distinguishing this land from the Spanish islands in the West Indies.

BUTTER

Q.—What is the extent of the butter industry in Canada?
A.—Few probably realize the extent of the butter industry in Canada. Thirteen plants represent a capital investment of $1,177,379, and in 1926 the gross production value of nearly a million dollars. This industry is largely centered in Kitchener.

THE CHURCH OF DOMRENY.
A where Joan of Arc was baptized, is a shrine for all Frenchmen. Seeing angel visions while wandering over the hills near the ancient little hamlet, Joan of Arc sought the solitude of the cloisters to pray for guidance in her service to the dauphin, the rightful ruler of France. Because of this great piety, the baptismal font within the church is guarded by an iron railing, preserved in memory of the Maid of Domremy.

An Imperial Life-Policy accomplishes when you die what you might have done if you had lived.

KENNETH FERGUSON
Imperial Life Assurance Company

Duke of Clarence was captain of the frigate Pegasus, and is chiefly remembered because he was with Nelson in the West Indies, and acted as best man at his wedding. The Duke of Kent, father of Queen Victoria, arrived at Quebec in 1791 from Gibraltar, as commanding officer of the 7th Royal Fusiliers. He made his home at Quebec for three years, occupying what was known as Kent Lodge, near Montmorency Falls. He returned in 1799 as commander-in-chief of the troops at Halifax. There is a fine bit of description, in one of Halliburton's novels, of his home near Halifax, also known as Kent Lodge.

The Prince of Wales, afterwards Edward VII., visited Canada in 1860, and laid the corner-stone of the Parliament Buildings at Ottawa. His brother Prince Alfred, came here in 1861, as a naval officer. In 1890 the Duke of Connaught, traveled across the Dominion on his way home from a visit to Japan. He returned to Canada as Governor-General in 1911, and remained until 1916. Princess Louise, daughter of Queen Victoria, spent the years 1878 to 1880 in Canada as wife of the Governor-General, the Marquis of Lorne, afterwards Duke of Argyll. The Duke of Cornwall and York (afterwards George V.) and his wife visited Canada in 1901. The present Prince of Wales made his first visit to Canada in 1919, and has returned more than once. He has shown his interest in the country by buying much of the land he has owned occasionally escape from the cares of state.

Some of us who are not as young as we used to be can remember the delightful hospitality of Lord Lorne and the Princess Louise at Rideau Hall in Ottawa, and the simplicity of their home life. The Princess was always a warm patron of art in Canada, and was herself an artist of no mean ability. Her husband will be remembered, among many other memorable acts, by the fact that he was chiefly instrumental in founding the Royal Society of Canada. His public life probably overshadowed his ability as a poet, but it will not be forgotten that he wrote that splendid ode beginning "Ours the hills around do I lift up My longed-for eyes."

The influence of such members of the British Royal Family as the Princess Louise, the Duke of Connaught and the Prince of Wales upon public and private life in Canada, although always great, was especially so in the case of the Prince of Wales, who was regarded as a very real factor in the development of the country. All three of them have contributed to win not only the respect but the affection of the Canadian people. That thought was very happily expressed by Lord Byng in January last, at the time of the Banquet in London, when, turning to the Prince of Wales, he said: "I know you hate eulogy and I am not going to indulge in it, but I should like to say this: I am deeply grateful to you, sir, for your position, but, damn it, sir, we love you for yourself."

LADY DRUMMOND AND GRANDSON VISITORS

Social Leader and Benevolent Worker on Holiday in Victoria

To spend three days sightseeing in Victoria, Lady Drummond, the first woman to speak at a public banquet in Montreal in 1908 and a leader in penitential work, is a visitor at the Empress Hotel with her eleven-year-old grandson, Guy. Both have charmed all those who have made their acquaintance.

Lady Drummond arrived from Vancouver this morning and has no social engagements. "We are spending a holiday in this earthly paradise," she explained, "and we have been sightseeing this morning. We intend to visit those wonderful Butchart gardens we have heard so much about."

Lady Drummond's bright young grandson showed keen enthusiasm as his grandmother told of the plans for their holiday. The perfect friendship between them in the enjoyment of a holiday together was apparent.

PLAN LONG TOUR

Banff, Lake Louise, visits to Calgary, Edmonton, Saskatoon and Regina are included in the five weeks' tour.

Lady Drummond, who is earnest and active in many kinds of benevolent work for the public good, was invited by the Women's Historical Association, the Aberdeen Association of the Anti-Tubercular League and the Parks and Playgrounds Association.

She has always been interested in the work of the Victorian Order of Nurses and the National Council of Women. She was president of the Montreal Women's Canadian Club at the time she made the first speech delivered by a woman at a public banquet in Montreal. She has written several admirable literary works, including an essay on "Purity of Speech and Accent."

COMPLETE PLANS FOR SUMMER SHOW

Victoria and District Gardeners' Fourth Annual Show Opens July 22

Arrangements for the holding of the Victoria and District Gardeners' Association annual summer show are about complete. This, as in former years, will be held at the Crystal Garden, Friday and Saturday, July 22 and 23. It is assured that all available space will be taken up. As this is not purely a local show, it is expected that entries will be in from horticultural points of the Lower Island, particularly as well as farther north. Intimation has already been received from Alberni, that representation from that district will be seen. In addition to the challenge trophy of the association, new cups go up for competition. A number of the classes are restricted for ladies only, and these should be very popular with the fair sex. Classes for novices are also included. A very attractive prize list has been issued, and the various classes as shown, appears to care for all phases of horticulture.

What is expected to be a special feature will be the school children's entries in both the wild flower section, and the collection of vegetables. These are restricted to children under six.

CLARISSA SELWYNNE
GIVEN ROLE THAT WAS OFFERED QUEEN MARIE

Queen Marie of Roumania was offered $50,000 salary for a single day's work in a United States moving picture. At the time there was much to do about the offer, but Her Royal Highness finally declined, and the role went to a professional actress, Clarissa Selwynne. The film was Tolstoy's "Resurrection," which comes to the Dominion Theatre this week. Needless to add, Miss Selwynne was paid several dollars less than $25,000 per day!

Through the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce, Edwin Carewe, director and co-producer with Inspiration Pictures, of "Resurrection," extended the $25,000 offer for a day's camera work to Queen Marie. The cheque was deposited by Carewe with the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce and the invitation duly forwarded to the Roumanian

Enlisting at the outbreak of the Boer War, Major Franklin fought through that campaign and subsequently spent many years in hunting and traveling through the "Dark Continent," acquiring an immense fund of information that made him invaluable in filming the picture now being shown at the Variety Theatre.

TRIBUTE PAID TO HORSES KILLED BY COLUMBIA PICTURE

Every country has honored the Unknown Soldier, but it remained for America to honor its equine heroes. This was done by Fox Films, whose great feature "The War Horse," which is showing at the Columbia Theatre, is a tribute to the horses who died in France. Buck Jones, who appears in the stellar role, wrote the story and his famous steed, Silver Buck, has the name role.

RICHES VS. MANNERS
PROBLEM FACED IN PICTURE AT CAPITOL

Are good manners in a husband more important than money? Women who have faced this problem and men who have manners or money should see how Virginia Vall handles it in "Evening Clothes," the Paramount picture starring Adolphe Menjou, which shows at the Capitol Theatre this week.

Not all women would sympathize with her when she scorns the rich country gentleman, Menjou, because of his bucolic manners on their wedding night. Although he is one of the richest men in France, with an aristocratic background, his interests have centered on breeding livestock so long that she regards him as a coarse and drives him from the bridal chamber.

The stage attractions at the Capitol Theatre this week include Betty Anderson, lyric soprano, in a delightful songbook specialty. Miss Anderson has just completed a highly successful engagement of sixteen weeks at Grauman's Egyptian Theatre, Los Angeles. Duke Johnson and Buddy Brown, the Fashion Plate entertainers, in a piano song and dance specialty, and Kathleen Morris in a dainty dance conception, and last, but not least, is the famous Capitol Concert Orchestra, under the leadership of Al Prescott.

Unfair Methods
In Movies Charged

San Francisco, July 8.—Charges that the West Coast Theatres Inc. and affiliated interests were attempting to stifle competition in the motion picture industry by preventing rival organizations from procuring desirable films were heard here yesterday by Examiner John W. The following theatres are named in the complaint: West Coast Theatres Inc., West Coast Theatres of Northern California, the T. & D. Junior Enterprises Inc., Herbert L. Rothchild Enterprises Inc. and Turner, Dahnen & Langley.

"I Knew Him When"
Doesn't Go Well With Movie Stars

Hollywood, Calif., July 8.—When a man rises from an office boy to a railroad president he boasts of the fact. But in the movie colony things are different. Stars forget that they were once "extras." And they want others to forget, too. Why a film star should attempt to discard his, or her, past probably will remain one of those "unanswered questions." Movie folk themselves decline to discuss the subject.

There is one possible reason for their attitude—Hollywood atmosphere. In any other line of business, a man's position isn't diminished in any way because he once had only a job. Again it might be said that in Hollywood things are different.

When a star, director, writer or producer tries to live up to his, or her, position, they are immediately met with "he ain't so much—I used to know that guy when he was just an electrician" or similar remarks. Such "cracks" don't get over very well with our "big guns"—hence the wiping out of past records.

A few of the "regular fellows" have not changed their personalities with success. They are the same as they were years ago—and the people working under them love them for it. They compose the small minority group not troubled by a past.

From cow punching to preaching—that is the step taken by Bill Cody, cinema cowboy. But Bill's preaching was of only a half hour's duration. He recently was invited to the Congressional Church at San Bernardino, Calif., to give a talk from the pulpit on the making of clean pictures.

When Francis X. Bushman walked on a set at Universal City the other day, two horses bolted from the scene in which they were working and galloped over to him. Bushman and everyone else was startled by the unusual action of the animals. Then he identified them as two horses he had used for months in the filming of "Ben Hur."

New York, July 8.—Good seats are not available at the box offices of leading Broadway theatres unless one applies three weeks in advance, and agencies get up to $50 a seat for prize fight tickets and up to $25 for musical comedy tickets, according to witnesses at the investigation into the ticket brokerage business now in progress here.

Leonard E. Bergman, general manager of the Erlanger Theatre, said the first fourteen rows were sold out to agencies from four to eight weeks in advance, although tickets applied for at the box office more than two weeks in advance were held out from the agency allotments.

A block of nine tickets to the DeLaney-Maloney fight in February, on which was stamped a face value of $23 each, were purchased from scalpers for $85 each and sold to a client for $90 each. Joseph J. Newman, manager of the Broadway Theatre ticket agency related. He also said he had sold a block of five tickets for the Ziegfeld Theatre, with a face value of $5.50, for $25 each.

A committee of the newly organized Real Estate Agents' Association of Victoria met last evening in the offices of Major T. B. Monk to discuss matters relative to the Real Estate Agents' Licensing Act.

Agents must be bonded in cities where the population exceeds 10,000, the meeting learned.

"Several operators have been turned down by bonding companies with absolutely no reasons given, and others with considerable assets and with no judgments against them have also been refused," declared G. E. Deakin.

"The bond in its present form was drafted three times before the bonding companies would accept it," Major Monk said, "and the Government has mailed lists giving names of certain companies with which we are requested to insure," he declared.

Rubber Shipments of World Increase

World shipments of rubber to the end of April, 1927, show an increase of 18,983 tons when compared with the same period of 1926, according to figures just received by the Bankers Trust Company of New York from its British information service. Total shipments from producing countries amounted to 211,569 tons in the first four months of this year, as compared with 192,580 tons shipped in the same period of 1926. Of the total shipments, plantation rubber accounted for 197,331 tons up to the end of April, 1927, 73,639 tons coming from British plantations, 57,223 tons of Malayan foreign imports, mainly imported from the Dutch East Indies, 20,790 tons from Ceylon, with Java, Madura, Sumatra and other countries supplying the balance of 35,526 tons. During April the United States consumed 35,871 tons of rubber, and at the end of the month had on hand stock amounting to 92,755 tons. For the four months' consumption amounted to 135,087 tons. The United Kingdom consumed only 15,344 tons of rubber in the four months of this year, and had a stock on hand at the end of April of 69,538 tons. At the end of April there were 73,200 tons of rubber afloat as compared with 74,390 tons at the end of March, 1927, and with 64,330 tons afloat at the end of April, 1926.

Dr. R. G. MacBeth Praises Mounted Patrol in North

Vancouver, July 8.—"In all the glorious history of Canada, there is nothing more splendid than the patrol of the mounted police in the North, and if the young men of the nation will learn that story of bravery and devotion to duty, coupled with indomitable courage, we shall raise a generation of Canadians to be an example to the entire world. These brave men, who will not talk about their accomplishments, have done more work in making this great country of ours than any of you realize—they have maintained law and order, they are not gunmen—I have seen more guns in the films than I have seen in forty years on the frontier of the West—they do not kill—they are sufficient to carry them through," said Dr. R. G. MacBeth, M.A., in speaking at the luncheon given yesterday in the ballroom of the Hotel Vancouver by the Women's Canadian Club in honor of Lady Drummond and the R.C.M.P.

Sooke Women's Institute Meets

The regular monthly meeting of the Sooke and North Sooke Women's Institute was held in Sooke Hall, with the president, Mrs. Jackson, in the chair. A letter from Mrs. A. Booth, convenor, public health, Local Council of Women, was read, asking for help in raising money to pay for operating table, anaesthetic and twenty-four hours in hospital for minor operations for children up to the age of fifteen whose parents cannot afford to pay. For the benefit of this fund a tea day will be held in Victoria on July 16, but as none of the members in our institute can go in to assist with this, it was decided to place collection boxes in various public places in Sooke. It is hoped that in this way a satisfactory amount will be collected for this worthy cause. The report of proceedings at the provincial conference was read and discussed. A very interesting paper on education and better schools was read by Mrs. B. Acreman, considerable discussion following on various matters pertaining to the schools. The school gardens have not done as well as was hoped for owing to lack of material and adequate labor to do the heavy part of the work. The secretary reported that prize lists for the flower show to be held July 22 are being prepared and will be ready for distribution. Delightful refreshments were then served by Mrs. Syrett and Mrs. B. Acreman.

Cars Wanted For Girl Guide Camp

On Thursday, July 14, over 200 commissioners, guides and guides will arrive by the day boat from Vancouver to take part in the first Dominion-wide camp and conference here. British Columbia guides are naturally proud that this event should be held in their Province and Victoria more especially so as, owing to the generosity of the University School management, the camp is in their midst.

It will be greatly appreciated if public-spirited citizens will aid in offering a welcome to the visitors by meeting the boat with cars and driving them to the University School, Mount Tolmie. The guide party will be the last to disembark and special guide orderlies will be on duty to assist the head of transport, Mrs. Genge. Will volunteers kindly telephone to her at 1082 or to Miss Wigley at 789.

CANNOT PREVENT RETURN OF WOMEN TO BEER PARLORS

But Liquor Board Will be Ready to Curb Any Abuses That Follow New Move

Officials Have no Power to Confine Sale to Men But Must Approve Alterations

If Vancouver beer parlors operators want to serve liquor to women there is no law to prevent them. If any abuses follow this change, however, they may look for instant action by the Liquor Board.

With this intimation, Liquor Board officials reiterated their earlier statement that they had heard nothing officially of the sale of beer to women in any Vancouver beer parlor. Unofficially they have heard of this movement, but it is not necessary for licensees to notify them of it. Meanwhile beer parlors generally in Vancouver are preparing to reopen their doors to women.

While the board has no power to prevent beer sale to women, it can still interfere should licensees make structural alterations in their premises to provide special drinking rooms for women. Plans for all structural alterations must go before the board for approval, it was explained. If the board does not approve them they cannot proceed.

Apparently the new plan of selling beer to men and women in separate premises, as has been suggested, and thus give the board, at least in some cases, power to decide whether the proposed change shall go into effect or not.

In reopening their premises to women beer licensees are running grave risks, it is felt officially. The sale to women, it was explained, is a new thing. If these occur the board will act instantly to curb them. In other words, if the licensees decide on indiscriminate sale, they must take the responsibility for its results.

PRETTY WEDDING SOLEMNIZED HERE

Miss Betty McLennan Married Last Evening to Mr. Duncan McLennan

A pretty wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents last evening, when Elizabeth (Betty) daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. McLennan of Market Street, became the bride of Duncan McLennan, third son of Mr. and Mrs. J. McLennan of Princess Avenue.

Entering the drawing-room on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage, the bride was charmingly escorted in white, first crepe embroidered in seed pearls and rhinestones, and trimmed with a heavy band of silver ribbon. Her exquisite veil of hand-embroidered net fell in filmy folds, and was caught to the head with a wreath of orange blossoms. A bouquet of Ophelia roses, sweet peas and swansons completed the bridal toilet.

Miss Mattie McLennan, niece of the bride, was the only attendant dressed in mauve. The bride wore a silver and mauve bandeau was worn. She carried a bouquet of mauve sweet peas.

The groom was supported by Mr. B. Passmore. After the ceremony a reception was held, the drawing-room being beautifully decorated with mauve green and white. There were ropes of pearls interspersed with emeralds. They carried armfuls of red, white and blue field flowers, red poppies, white daisies, blue corn flowers and sheaves of wheat.

The bridesmaids' dress and the wild flowers added a novel touch of color to the notable assemblage which included members of the Cabinet and diplomatic corps in St. Margaret's, Westminster.

Sir Austen Chamberlain was the first, accepting the family, to wish the bride all happiness in the new and extended congratulations to the young banker bridegroom. Sir Austen, along with Mr. and Mrs. Houghton and Mrs. Anderson Jr., signed the marriage register.

The bridal couple departed for a month's automobile tour of England and Scotland. After the honeymoon they will sail for New York, where they are to make their home.

WOMEN TAKE KEEN INTEREST IN FAIR

Five Institutes Have Entered; All Space in Building Reserved

Women of Vancouver Island are showing special interest in the Provincial Fair to be held at the Willows next month, with rivalry between women's institutes. Every inch of space in the women's building has already been let and the place will be crowded to capacity with attractive exhibits.

The women's building has always been one of the attractive features of the fair, and in previous years the competition has usually been between three institutes. This year there will be no less than five—Luxton, Happy Valley, Victoria, Royal Oak and Colwood.

Entries promise to be heavy in every other section of the show. The manufacturing building will ask the more demand for space already received than it has been possible to accept. In the cattle section competition will be keen. The famous Jerseys of H. E. Burbridge, of Keating, will be among the local stock competing for honors.

Mrs. Horace Dodge is critically ill

Beverly Hills, Cal., July 8.—Armed guards last night surrounded the home of Mrs. Horace Dodge Jr. here where it was said that Mrs. Dodge was critically ill.

Earlier in the day Mrs. Dodge issued a statement denying that she was engaged to Lieut. Charles L. Williams, who lost his life when he was thrown from a plane over the ocean off Waikiki beach Wednesday.

The former wife of the millionaire automobile man characterized the report of her engagement as "ridiculous" and said its inception probably was in her request that Lieut. Williams be on the lookout for a house which she could take in event she returned to live near Honolulu.

Dodge recently followed his wife to Honolulu, and they were divorced upon their return to the mainland.

The regular monthly meeting of the local board of the Y.O.C.W. will be held on Tuesday, July 12, at 2:30 p.m. at 237 Cook Street. There will be no meeting in August.

Lloyd Geldt of Harland Farm, Sandwich, became the bride of Mr. George Sanford Macdonald. The bride, who looked lovely in a charming French creation of white georgette with silver embroidery and long net bridal veil, wore a shower bouquet of sweetheart roses. She was given in marriage by her mother, becomingly gowned in rosewood georgette with hat to match. Miss Peggy Censford, in pink georgette and large pink hat and carrying a bouquet of pink peonies and carnations, was bridesmaid.

Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played by Miss Annie Forrest on the organ. After the ceremony the bridal party proceeded to the Elk Hotel at Comox, where preparation had been made by the management to add a full measure of happiness to the occasion.

About forty guests were received in the ballroom, which was beautifully decorated with masses of white and mauve Canterbury bells. In the dining-room the table was arranged in the shape of a horseshoe, and the floral decorations were of pink sweet peas very pleasing. A four-piece orchestra added enjoyment and kept the guests dancing until a late hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Macdonald left by car at 11:30 o'clock, the bride in a charming French frock of ashes of rose crepe de sole. ## FRUIT BELT REGAINS PROSPERITY, HE SAYS

"Prosperity is beginning to return to the Okanagan this year," Mr. Jones said. "Markets for fruit are much improved, and our fruit marketing bill as passed by the last session of the Legislature is helping, although at first many persons did not understand it."

Mr. Jones is conferring with Conservative leaders and Island Conservative members here, but declared that although political questions were being taken up they had no public significance at this time.

EASTERN FAITHS HAVE GREAT AGE

Dr. H. H. Gowen Discusses Religions of China and India at Memorial Hall

The contributions of Oriental religions towards the religious opinions of the modern world were sketched last night by Dr. H. H. Gowen, before a largely attended gathering in Memorial Hall. Dr. Gowen is head of the Department of Oriental Languages and Literature at Washington University.

The lecture was the fourth of a series of five addresses on the development of religious thought throughout the ages. The speaker dealt with the rise of religious thought in China and India, giving information as to the teachings of Confucius and an explanation of the code of morality formulated by that sage 500 years prior to the Christian era.

He showed the effect on social order of the code taught, the development of political and family relations, and pointed out the points, where the teachings of Confucius and of the later growth of Indian philosophy, and the points of failure of these teachers.

Considerable attention was given to Brahmanism, which later developed into the devotional stage now termed Hinduism. The Buddhist religion was analyzed, the teaching of Gotama Buddha, some 600 years before Christ, being regarded as a heresy by the Brahmins of those days. Buddhism was originally a religion of a person, one of the earliest exchanges of ideas and religions of compassion, Dr. Gowen showed.

The last of the series of lectures will be given this evening in Memorial Hall, and will deal with the Christianity of to-day and to-morrow.

BASEBALL, BOXING

Bays Out To Regain Four-Oared Laurels

Will Send Fine Crew to Regatta at Harrison Lake Next Week and Coach O'Sullivan Is Hopeful of Victory; Will Have Representatives in Every Event; Oarsmen Have Been Training Faithfully for Some Time and Are in Fine Shape for Gruelling Struggles on Water

Every night and morning the J.B. A.A. oarsmen are in their shells tuning up for the N.P.A.A.O. regatta which will be held at Harrison Lake next week. The locals are keyed up over the assurance of their head coach, Dan O'Sullivan, that they should do better in this year's regatta than they have done for a long time.

For the past two months the oarsmen have been under the careful eye of Coach O'Sullivan. They have been coached so as to bring them into the peak of physical form and develop a smoothness in their boats, which would give them plenty of power and speed. Since the war the Bays have been forced to build up new crews nearly every year owing to so many of their men changing their place of residence, and this has made the work doubly hard for Coach O'Sullivan. This year, however, some of the oarsmen have returned to town and this has enabled the coach to build up a junior four which he is hopeful will win the event.

KENNEDY IS STROKE

Billy Kennedy, for many years the premier sculler of the Pacific Northwest, will stroke the junior four this year. Billy confined himself to sculling for a long time, but he has now taken his place in a shell and will have the "sweep" of the crew. His long experience in competitive events, together with his undoubted form, will be a great help to the boat.

More, a heavy young oarsman close on to 200 pounds, will be in No. 3. Moes has had previous experience and has rowed in some real good crews. He has plenty of power and stamina, and his place in the boat will be well looked after.

B. Mawhood, well-known in rugby and boxing circles, will balance off Moes in the boat. He will be in No. 2 seat, and in about the same weight and strength as Moes. This will assure the boat of two powerful men in the middle.

The bow seat will be Campbell Forbes, who can row his boat on a true course, and is just right to offset Kennedy on the other side of the boat.

The Bays are building up their hopes on this crew, which has been entered in both the junior and senior four-oared events. The Bays have not won either of these events for a long time, and they are very keen to break the run of victories of the Vancouver Rowing Club.

SENDING GOOD BOYS OVER

The Bays will send over a number of other oarsmen over to the regatta on the mainland, and are hopeful of victories in a number of events. Clyde Donaldson and Lionel Locke, the two youngsters who created a sensation at Shawinigan Lake, where last year's regatta was held, by winning both the junior and senior doubles, have decided to defend their honors in the senior doubles at Harrison Lake. They make a great team, and will make both the Portland and Vancouver entries shake out their turbines to come anywhere near winning.

In the junior doubles, Moes and Ray Ditchburn have entered, while both Crane and Lionel Locke have decided to go after the 140-pound doubles.

"TACKLE" FOURS

The Bays will send over a 140-pound four-oared crew, which will be much the same as the one which lost out by a hair-breadth at Shawinigan Lake last year. Benny McMillan will be in the stroke seat with Dods as No. 3, Jack Crane as No. 2, and Allan Pender as bowman.

The oarsmen will leave here next Wednesday and arrive at Harrison Lake on Thursday in time to rig their boats and have a workout in the cool of the evening. The regatta will be held on Friday and Saturday.

Vancouver will send a very strong contingent of oarsmen to the regatta, while Portland will have some good crews. A great regatta is looked for.

British Vet Golfers Win Triangular Match

Single Point All Lead That Chicago Hold Over Pirates

Cubs Defeat Crippled Pittsburgh Club and Move Into Top Place in Race

Pirates Lose Two More Players Through Injuries; St. Louis Wins

Leading the National League by a single percentage point, the Chicago Cubs today faced the tough task of holding out against the Pirates they dethroned.

Their two-to-one victory over the Pirates which gave them the lead yesterday was a pitchers' battle well worthy the two top teams it brought together. Main as well as pitching played a part and if there was any partisanship among the elements they favored the Cubs.

Pittsburgh has two more chances to end the Cubs' winning streak which has now run to eight games and to win back the lead. In the last three games series between the two the Pittsburgh club came off on top and repulsed the challengers for a time.

VANCE HOLDS GIANTS

In another hard-fought battle between rivals, the Brooklyn Robins defeated the New York Giants 3-2 and threatened to push them out of fourth place. Ending a four-game winning streak, the Robins made the most of Dazzy Vance's steadiness in the pinches to win, although out-hit, 8-4.

The inter-sectional duels which marked the day's play went to the Western clubs by wide margins. Hard-hitting gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 12-1 victory over Boston and Cincinnati beat the Phillies 11-4. The Cards previously had lost six games in a row.

More hard hitting appeared in the Detroit-St. Louis game, the only contest carded in the American League. Fourteen Tigers hit to 12 for St. Louis gave Detroit the victory 9-4.

LOST BUT DIDN'T COUNT

Taking a day off from big time play, the Yankees, who lead the American League by something over a mile, were felled by the Toronto Leafs, champions of the International League, by 11-7 in an exhibition game.

"Better to get lost out of our system when it doesn't count," was the philosophical attitude of Huggins and Company.

Pittsburgh, July 8.—The Pittsburgh Pirates, who held the National League leadership for forty-five days, despite injuries to several players, suffered two more casualties as they dropped the leadership to the Cubs here yesterday.

Hal Rhyme, shortstop, injured his leg in a slide, while Johnny Morrison of the pitching staff, is temporarily out of the line-up with a bruised hand suffered in a fall at his home.

Kremer, Cutler, Wright, Traynor, Harris and Aldridge have been among the casualties of the present season, while East Smith, catcher, is still under suspension for a recent fight with Manager Baneroff of the Boston Braves.

NO ASSISTS IN BALL GAME AND NEW MARK SET UP BY PORTLAND

Oakland, Cal., July 8.—The Portland baseball club of the Pacific Coast League established or equaled what is believed to be a world's record on Wednesday by going through nine innings without an assist for the infield or outfield.

Four assists in all were made by Portland, two by Elmer Ponder, pitcher, another by Carl Yerkes, pitcher, and the last by Fisher, catcher.

In August, 1926, the St. Louis Cardinals set a record of only two assists but one was credited to Roger Hornsby, second baseman.

In the game Wednesday Portland lost to Oakland, 2 to 0.

COSTLY SLIP
Starting the afternoon with a lead of one hole, Stanley Thompson increased his margin over Maurice McCarthy of Brooklyn, to two, by winning the first hole, but after the second was halved in four, Thompson slipped and lost three in a row, all due to his poor shots. He had good chances to win both the third and fourth but tossed them away.

On the ninth, McCarthy saved a loss by dropping a brick 15-footer when Thompson was dead in three. McCarthy made the turn two up. The tenth was halved and Thompson squared the match when McCarthy ran into trouble on the eleventh and the thirteenth was halved but then McCarthy started his second winning streak of three consecutive holes which gave him the victory at the sixteenth. A long putt gave him the lead at the fourteenth. Thompson ran into trouble on the fifteenth and the sixteenth. ## Great Games Looked For In Semi-finals At Hamilton To-day

Three Previous Winners of Canadian Amateur Golf Title Have Hats in Ring

Finals Will Be Played To-morrow; Great Golf in Third Round Yesterday

Hamilton, Ont., July 8.—An unusual incident occurred at the eighteen-hole hole in the match between Ross Somerville, London, Ontario, and W. H. Gardner of Buffalo, here yesterday, when a crow which had been hovering about the green flew down and investigated Somerville's ball which lay upon the green while Gardner's was even farther up. After pausing a moment the crow then flew to Gardner's ball and giving it a peck, sent it rolling back down on the green, giving the player a putt for a three.

Hamilton, July 8.—Three previous winners of the Canadian amateur golf championship started in the semi-finals as a result of their victories on the third round yesterday. Two of them, Frank Thompson, Chicago, and "Sandy" Somerville, London, had comparatively easy wins, securing big leads in the morning, which were too much for their respective opponents, F. G. Hoblitzel, Lambton, and W. H. Gardner, Buffalo, to overcome in the afternoon, although the two losers played the better golf in the afternoon.

Don Carriek of Scarborough, Toronto, had a strenuous struggle to dispose of Norman Scott, Montreal, finally winning 2 and 1. He had a one-hole lead going out in the afternoon, but was in years of the ninth and did not square the match until the fifteenth. Here Scott cracked and Carriek won three in a row.

Carriek meets Somerville to-day, while Thompson tackles Maurice McCarthy of Brooklyn, who yesterday eliminated Stanley Thompson, Mississauga, Toronto, 3 and 2. Thompson was one up at noon, but on each hole in the afternoon, he had losing streaks of three holes each, and this caused his downfall.

PLAY IN EVEN FOURS
Sam Gardner of Buffalo, who started the afternoon five down to Somerville, played the sixteen holes in even fours but lost 4-2.

Somerville lost the second hole in the afternoon but won the third at the fourth, he put two holes in and then dropped the fifth. The next two were halved and they shared the eighth and ninth. Somerville winning the former and Gardner the latter. They turned for home with Somerville three in front.

On the 345-yard tenth, Somerville drove to the green and made a birdie, but he put two holes in and then dropped the fifth. The next two were halved and they shared the eighth and ninth. Somerville winning the former and Gardner the latter. They turned for home with Somerville three in front.

CHANNEL SWIMMERS OPPOSE EACH OTHER IN EASTERN RACE

Lake George, N.Y., July 8.—Three English Channel swimmers pitted against each other in the same contest for the first time in the history of swimming will be a feature of the Lake George regatta, to-morrow Tuesday. The three are Ernst Vierkoetter, Charles Toth and Georges Michel, all of whom have won their entrance blanks and are training for the twenty-four-mile swim.

Toth, Boston swimming champion, negotiated the Channel in 1913 in 16 hours. Vierkoetter made the swim in 12½ hours and a short time later Michel broke Vierkoetter's record.

Prominent among the younger contestants who are looking upon to give the Channel swimmers a real race is Meyer Mendelsohn, a nineteen-year-old Montreal boy, who has been swimming as much as nineteen miles a day in the lake in preparation for the marathon.

Johnson's Reign In American League Has Come To End

President of League Presents Resignation To-day; Accepted With Regret

New York, July 8.—Ban Johnson tendered his resignation as president of the American League to-day, effective on or before November 1, 1927. It was accepted with regret by the clubowners in special meeting.

The text of Johnson's resignation follows:

"After twenty-four years as your president, I hereby tender my resignation to become effective on or before November 1, 1927, or earlier should I so decide, the compensation to end upon my retirement."

Johnson's contract as league president had eight years to run at a salary of $40,000 a year. He was the founder of the American League, with several associates, and founder of the American Association.

No action was taken in naming a president to succeed Johnson and none will be taken, it was said, at this time.

Continued ill-health was conceded to be the chief factor in the approaching retirement of the league executive, although he would to-day shortly before announcing his resignation that he felt better than any time in recent years and felt able to carry on.

It is the general understanding that Johnson's active connections with the league will be terminated before November 1, possibly within the next few weeks, as soon as the league's affairs are in shape for a successor to take hold.

Horse Racing

Chicago, July 8.—The thundering hoofs of the Nation's best thoroughbreds are to tear up the turf at Lincoln Field Saturday when the $25,000 Lincoln Handicap, feature race of the summer meeting, is run.

The handicap entry list reads like a Who's Who of the turf, including such names as Hydromed, Kentucky Cardinal, Jock, Chance Play, Princess Doreen, Rolled Stockings, Boo, Rhinoc, Display and a score of others.

The jockeys include Earle Sande, Johnny Maiden and other notables of the turf.

New York, July 8.—Even 134 pounds of handicapper weight in his saddle won't keep a good horse down.

R. L. Gerry's Peanut is but little as thoroughbreds go, but he proved again he was all horse in winning the Empire City Handicap at the Empire City track here yesterday for the second time in two years.

Every time Peanut wins a race from bigger horses the handicappers load more and more into his saddle pouches and his load today was twenty-two pounds heavier than that of Sanford, which finished second, and eighteen heavier than that of Light Carbine, which ran third.

Peanut stepped the mile and a quarter in 2:08, just a second slower than he made today's least weight last year. The race added $5,000 to Peanut's winnings.

The best race of the day at Latonia, Kentucky, was the Maple Avenue Purse which went to C. E. Hamilton's Mount Beacon, under Jockey Connolly, at odds of $4.80 for $2.

PHILADELPHIA TENNIS

Philadelphia, July 8.—Three easterners and one western player advanced to the semi-final round yesterday in the middle state tennis championship tournament at the Philadelphia Cricket Club.

Cranston Holman, Leland Stanford University, was the lone western survivor, and in advancing he eliminated a fellow westerner. Others entering the semi-finals were Manuel Alonso, seeded No. 1; Stanley W. Pearson, Philadelphia, and Julius Seligson; New York City. Holman will meet Pearson in the upper bracket to-day and Alonso will clash with Seligson.

Portland Tennis

Portland, July 8.—Play reached the semi-finals of both the men's and women's singles of the annual Oregon state tennis championship tournament here yesterday through a series of matches in which consistently good tennis was played. The four players who remained in the singles were all California representatives. They are Louis Harrison and Lockwood of San Francisco, and Ruscher of Los Angeles.

Oregon's two survivors succumbed in the quarter finals after staging a brilliant fight to remain in the running.

Eric V. Hauser, who registered a surprise victory yesterday and bolstered Oregon's hopes, fell to-day before the magical racquet of John Riso, A. D. Norris, Portland, suffered defeat by J. K. Ruscher, Los Angeles.

The outstanding feature of the day's matches was the play of Riso, University of California player, seeded as No. one. Riso has but one arm, but he captured two matches yesterday, defeating Herbert Buhr, San Francisco, 6-1, 6-2, and Hauser, 6-2, 6-4. Riso will play Sherman Lockwood, San Francisco, to decide the finalist of the lower bracket. Lockwood reached the semi-finals by defeating B. Allen, San Francisco.

In the women's singles the four players left in the tournament are Marion Williams, Southern California champion; Marion Green, Portland City champion; Louise McFarland, national girls' champion of California, and Adele Wedemeyer, Portland girl star. The first three are seeded.

STEIN MEETS DUNCAN

Seattle, July 8.—Bon Stein, five-times winner of the title, and Alex. Duncan, a youth who has recently fought his way into prominence, will meet here to-day for the Seattle City amateur golf championship. Duncan, who won the Vancouver, B.C., city caddy title in 1923, went into the finals, eliminating Bill Graham and Hugh Haakons yesterday. Stein defeated Bryan Winter and George Abrahams in the last two rounds.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

Astrollogers read this as an unfortunate day, for after the morning hours sinister stars dominate.

Women should bestir themselves early, if they would accomplish anything and the aspects are likely to make them ambitious.

There is a sign of promise for all who seek work to-day, provided they emulate the legendary worm; otherwise, they will find only serious disappointment.

Much work is foretold for those who use their hands. Labor is to benefit greatly in the world's turmoil which is to increase with the advance of Summer, it is forecast.

Under this planetary government there may be a tendency on the part of men who have attained success to be exceedingly domineering, especially in their attitude toward women.

If the stars are read aright women are soon to demonstrate their ability to perform great service to the nation.

While this sway prevails there may be an inclination toward deception and double dealing. Secret diplomacy will be prevalent.

It is well not to make any sort of venture under this direction of the stars which may be most misleading.

There is again a prophecy that many more millionaires will be made within a short time, owing to extraordinary conditions in foreign lands.

An appalling disaster in which the French suffer is foretold by a London astrologer.

Reformers are to work diligently to protect the lands of the United States from future floods, but disasters from earthquakes are prognosticated.

Warning is given that selfishness must be overcome in the administration of the people's business. Political corruption is to be exposed in many places, if the stars are rightly read.

Persons whose birthdate it is should conserve their money in the coming year. Speculation should be avoided.

Children born on this day probably will be thrifty and industrious. They should be trained to avoid bad investments.

Wife: "I took the recipe for this cake out of a cookery book."

Husband: "You did perfectly right. It should never have been put in."

"I think," the little Princess said, "that all these horses best be led back to the stables, merry-go-round. Who'll help me in this task?" "We all will," shouted Scouty, loud. "To help you we are very proud. But please don't let the horses kick us. That is all we ask."

"Oh, no, it won't," the princess cried. "Go right ahead and crawl inside. And then, when you are seated, pull the little lever down. The train will pull you all with care, and I will follow in the air. Then, in a very little time, we'll land in Tiny Town."

What fun it was to ride along as long as not a thing went wrong! The Times rattled on through space and traveled very far. And then the train came to a stop. "All out!" the princess said. "Just hop upon the ground and you'll be glad to find out where you are."

And what a funny place it was! The Times laughed aloud because they saw a lot of little folks, who scampered all around. The Times met them. That was fine. The princess said, "They're friends of mine." And thus the Times felt at home in funny Tiny Town.

one, and Leslie Sleeper, nineteen, a friend, all of Hunter's Creek, near here.

"Well, dearie," remarked her woman friend, "you didn't after all, did you?"

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

BETTER THAN SODA

For fifty years genuine "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

MOVIE ACTORS WANT SHORTER WORK HOURS

Demand in Hollywood Now is For Eight-hour Day

Hollywood, Cal., July 8.—The Actors' Equity Association has taken up the battle of the film players for shorter hours and better working conditions. Frank Gilmore, executive of the association, announced to-day he had approached one producer for the purpose of laying the case of the actors and actresses before him. Seven hundred film players Wednesday night swore new allegiance to the Equity Association and laid plans for definite action looking toward an eight-hour day and improved conditions. The secretary said the Equity Association's business was not that of adjusting wages disputes, but merely to present the case of its members. In the event the industry's chiefs felt they could not meet the conditions, he asserted, the Equity Association would be glad to arbitrate the matter.

CLOSED SHOP

Speakers before a mass meeting of players on Wednesday night not only favored the shorter day, but declared for a "closed shop." This was taken to mean that Equity members would not be compelled to work on lots or in studios where non-members were employed. Producers generally would not comment on the latest move in the wage war. Al. Rockett, production chief for First National Pictures, however, gave it as his opinion that if the reported demands were insisted upon many producers would be forced out of the film industry to make a living in other ways.

Later he explained that in making this statement, he was speaking of general conditions in the film industry. He said at the time he first was interviewed he did not know a meeting of the film section of the Equity Association had been held. His statement in no way was in answer to the situation developed by that meeting, he declared.

J. W. JONES IS ON VISIT TO ISLAND

J. W. Jones, M.P.P. for South Okanagan, and Mrs. Jones arrived in the city yesterday afternoon on a vacation tour of the island. They motored down from Kelowna, where they reside, and will spend a few days here before returning to the interior.

Mr. Jones said fruit growers of his district were hopeful of receiving a good return for their crops this year as a result of the creation of new marketing machinery under recent provincial legislation.

WORLD BANKERS CONFER SECRETLY

New York, July 8.—Despite the thick veil of secrecy which surrounds the conferences being held here by the executives of four of the largest central banks in the world, Wall Street bankers are of the belief that two important conclusions will be reached: First, an agreement or understanding of some kind regarding the flow of gold among the nations; and second, a credit of $200,000,000 to the Bank of Poland to be participated in by the New York Federal Reserve Bank and the European banks of issue. Seldom in recent Wall Street history have such secrecy and mystery surrounded an important gathering.

The bankers' meeting here are Benjamin Strong, governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York; Montagu C. Norman, governor of the Bank of England; Charles Rist, deputy governor of the Bank of France; and Hjalmar Schacht, president of the German Reich Bank.

Date of Execution Postponed a Month

Regina, July 8.—Valentine Schmidt, who under the sentence imposed upon him in court here was to have been hanged July 15 for the murder of his wife, Rose, on December 28 last, will live longer than that date, at least. It may be he will continue to exist for a natural term, more or less in confinement. That point has not been settled yet, but it has been decided that the date of execution shall be postponed.

Notification was sent to the court-house officials to-day by wire from Ottawa that the Government had seen fit to postpone the execution until August 10 next. It is understood the postponement has been approved in order to permit of further consideration of the case in all its aspects, with a view to determining whether the sentence of the court shall be carried out.

Kootenay Mines Put Under Option

Nelson, B.C., July 8.—Portland, Ore. interests allied with New York financial concerns, have taken an option to the end of August for the purchase for spot cash of the Nugget and Mother Lode properties of the Sheep Creek Gold Camp, near Nelson, A. E. Jukes of Vancouver, announced here yesterday. The price is $165,000. The big Nugget tunnel at depth reaches its objective through Mother Lode ground and the two properties have been associated for a number of years.

Grain Exports Falling Off

Washington, July 8.—Grain exports last week from U. S. ports were 1,555,000 bushels as compared with 2,202,000 bushels last week. Commerce department figures gave the following comparisons between export last week and the week before: Wheat—1,002,000 bushels against 1,532,000. Rye—95,000 bushels against 353,000. Oats—78,000 bushels against 742,000. Corn—241,000 bushels against 312,000. Barley—129,000 bushels against 160,000. Canadian grain exported through U. S. ports last week amounted to 811,000 bushels, against 1,105,000 the previous week, while last week's export of North American wheat flour were 283,000 barrels against 138,000 barrels.

GAP WIDENS AT NAVAL CONFERENCE

Admiral Saito, head of the Japanese delegation, explained the new Japanese proposal, which follows the line of the United States minimum proposals for cruisers and destroyers, but requests a higher proportion of submarines.

POSSIBILITY OF FAILURE

London, July 8.—Possibility of a breakdown of the naval negotiations at Geneva, Washington and New York displayed in the newspapers here to-day.

Indicative of the opinion in some quarters is the comment of The Westminster Gazette, which refers to "trying to remove the obsession of the United States that Great Britain either is refusing parity or forcing the pace in cruiser building."

The paper intimates the deadlock is due to the refusal of the United States to agree to the British cruiser plan, which is described "as the only practical one before the conference."

DESCRIBED AS RETREAT

The London Daily News editorially recalls that at the Washington conference there was no suggestion that cruisers were to be regarded in a separate category from other tonnage. It says that "inasmuch as we are now suggesting they ought to be so regarded, we are attempting to retreat from the position quite definitely taken eight years ago."

At the same time, the paper declares there is something in Great Britain's present contention, but argues that the United States and Great Britain is only possible on tacit assumption that war between them is inconceivable.

"On that assumption," it says, "America can reasonably be asked to consider our enormous maritime obligations, while we can afford to regard with considerable philosophy enormous additions to the United States fleet if the United States desires them."

The News thinks the implications of the foregoing assumptions have not been thought out, and the ground for the conference was not adequately prepared. Therefore, it suggests the best plan would be to adjourn the conference until these necessary preliminaries are completed.

SHADOW OF ELECTION

"Nobody," it says, "really repudiated much confidence in the discussions. Foreign policy of the United States is often closely related to an impending presidential election."

COMMITTEE MEETS

Geneva, July 8.—While the position of the United States Navy Conference here is still critical as regards the cruiser question, because of failure of the British and United States delegations to get closer together on the maximum tonnage for this class of warcraft, the executive committee was to meet to-day to iron out some of the secondary questions, and possibly along with discussions of a tentative date for reconvening a plenary session.

EFFORT OF LEADERS

Rt. Hon. W. C. Bridgeman, First Lord of the British Admiralty and head of the British delegation, and Hugh S. Gibson, Canadian Ambassador to Belgium, who heads the republic's delegation, are continuing private talks with a view to reaching a compromise.

Mr. Gibson, before his latest conference with the chief British delegate, was still optimistic that the cruiser question would be solved, he said.

"We are both making every honest effort to see each other's viewpoint. We are trying to get our tonnage and the number of cruisers."

The date of a plenary session is still nebulous, as the technical experts must first study the new Japanese proposal for fixing the tonnage of cruisers and destroyer classes for the three powers and allowing them to adjust their strength according to their needs within the limits of the set.

SUBMARINE TOTALS

Then there is the third class of auxiliary warships which the conference has under consideration—submarines. Here, too, the Japanese have submitted a new proposal for considerably increased tonnage. This followed demand of the Japanese on their demand that they be permitted to build an unlimited number of small undersea craft.

Admiral Saito has asked for 70,000 tons of submarines, basing his claim on the necessity of defending the coast of the island empire against possible invasion.

The figure is 34,000 tons higher than the minimum proposed by the United States delegation, which suggested a maximum tonnage for the United States and Great Britain of from 60,000 to 80,000 and for Japan of from 30,000 to 50,000. There are indications that the Japanese delegation will not give up its submarine claims, if they are relinquished at all, without an intensive struggle.

CRUISERS AND DESTROYERS

Japan's proposals for fixing the global tonnage of cruisers and destroyers suggested 400,000 tons as a limit for the United States and Great Britain and 300,000 for Japan. The original United States recommendation placed the minimum cruiser tonnage for Japan at 150,000 tons and the destroyer tonnage at 120,000, therefore Japan is asking for only 30,000 more tons for both classes than ### suggested by the United States.

JAPANESE CRITICISM

Osaka, Japan, July 8.—Press and public are becoming increasingly irritated over what is described as the "expansionist" trend of the naval discussion at Geneva.

Great Britain and the United States are urged by the newspapers to lead the world toward peace—a path which it is said Japan is prepared to follow.

Businessmen make the point that the capability of cruisers in protecting trade routes is extremely doubtful and place stress on the development of aviation. Instancing the flights of Colonel Lindbergh and others, as well as the activities of German submarines during the World War. They regard cruisers as a poor investment as compared with aircraft and call for a drastic curtailment.

Paris, July 8 (Canadian Press Cable).—"Pertinax," a correspondent of The Echo de Paris, says the ingenuity of the British and United States delegates to the Three-Power Naval Conference at Geneva may yet save the conference from failure, "but if all is lost we may thank ourselves for the failure of our friends by the thought that we have given them a lesson in modesty. In the future perhaps Washington will think twice before rushing unprepared into such negotiations, and London may not be so ready to hold up its hands in horror when the pressure of armament says: 'Force us the safety of France must be the supreme consideration.'"

ALL PACIFIC INVITED TO TRADE PARLEY

INVITATIONS TO CHINA

Fifty-three invitations have been sent to China and a similar number to Australia. One hundred and thirteen have been sent to Japan, forty-nine to New Zealand and fourteen to the Philippine Islands.

All the Lieutenant-Governors of Canada, the Premier of every Canadian province, sixty-three Members of Parliament, sixty-three Members of the House of Commons, the Prime Minister of Japan, the president of the Canadian Pacific Railway and the president of the Canadian National Railways have also been invited.

Canadian Explosives Ltd. Change Name to Canadian Industries

Following extension of operations the Canadian Explosives Limited have changed the name of the firm to Canadian Industries Limited. It is not expected that the change will affect the operations of the company in Victoria.

In a statement confirming the change A. A. Purvis, president, said:

"This will mean that Canadian Industries Limited will hold all of the stock and operate the following five subsidiary manufacturing enterprises: Canadian Explosives Limited, Commercial Explosives and Accessories; Dominion Cartridge Company Limited, shot shells, metallic cartridges and primers, railway fuses and signals; The Paint and Varnish Limited, varnishes and enamels, oil colors, industrial paints; 'Duco' for industrial and household uses (sole Canadian manufacturer); Arlington Company of Canada, Limited, cleanable collars and cuffs, pyraline combs, toiletware, etc.

"The contribution to earnings of the firm and subsidiary enterprises is now important, as will readily be appreciated when it is realized that Flint has the sole right to the manufacture in Canada of the famous 'Duco' finish."

"Apart from the varied manufacturing interest, Canadian Industries Limited also holds as permanent investments certain industrial stocks principally connected with the automobile business, which in the last two or three years have made important contributions to earnings and, therefore, to dividends. It will, therefore, be realized that the company can no longer be regarded entirely as an explosives company alone, but now serves a wide section of the Canadian house in a number of varied lines, the extension of its activities and prosperity largely resulting from its strong technical backing."

Death of Poet is Deeply Regretted

St. Thomas, July 8.—Adam W. Graham of this city, one of the pioneers of St. Thomas, is mourning the death in Victoria yesterday of Dr. Charles H. Graham, the city's oldest poet, who with Mr. Graham was held prisoner by Louis Riel, rebel leader, at Fort Garry during the Red River or First Riel Rebellion in 1869.

Mr. Graham believes he is now the only survivor of the original forty-five prisoners taken by Riel on December 4, 1869.

Los Angeles, July 8.—Sales of Piggy Western States Company, which operates 161 stores in its territory, averaged more than $1,000,000 a month for the first six months of 1927, and exceeded the total for the same period of 1926 by 82 per cent. The report of the company made public here to-day gave the sales for the first half of 1927 as $6,502,687.

U.S. GOVERNMENT METHODS SCORED

Governor Ritchie of Maryland Says People Are Regulated Too Much

French Lick, Ind., July 8.—The United States is passing on a government of law to a government of men, and a power that often approaches tyranny has been vested in the Federal Government, Governor Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland declared in an address here to-day at the annual meeting of the Indiana State Bar Association.

"The Government is no longer the creator and protector of our individual rights, but is rapidly becoming the dictator of them," the speaker asserted. "To-day local self-government furnishes the only efficient, effective, workable basis on which the diversified and changing problems in our diversified and changing land can ever be practically settled."

LEADS ALL

The United States Government had become the most regulatory in the western world, outside of Russia and Italy, Governor Ritchie asserted. He declared inspectors and spies and official regulators followed the American citizen from the day he took his first nourishment.

"Here he is told what he may eat, what he may smoke and everywhere what he may drink. What he may read or write or see on the stage is prescribed, too, and not content with this, his Government advises him how to hang his curtains in his home, what meat to cook for his Christmas dinner, and not two months ago the Department of Agriculture distributed throughout the country a treatise entitled 'A Pocket Essay on Kissing.'"

SWIFT JUSTICE

Montreal, July 8.—A case of "swift justice" was seen in Montreal to-day. Tony Santos appeared before Justice Monet in police court on a charge of stealing two valises, was transferred to a higher court, tried and sentenced to one year in jail in the record time of seventeen minutes. Two witnesses were heard.

Keating

Keating, July 8.—The Diamond Jubilee Celebrations of Confederation was observed by the Young People's Club of the South Saanich United Church at the regular meeting, when an interesting evening was spent in the study of Canada before and after confederation. Four definite skull fractures were made, but his vitality was so great that he was able to aid physicians in drawing the last four feet of the bar from his head.
